

Area Command /Dept	Date offered	Recipient	Value (£)	Donor	Details of Circumstances	Nature of Gift /Hospitality	Accepted /Declined	Disposal /Rationale
Safeguarding	04/04/2019	DC	£10.00	Public	Complainant in a case sent a bouquet of flowers and a card to thank the officer in charge.	Flowers	Accepted	The flowers were a perishable item and to return them to the sender may have caused offence.
Firearms Unit	04/04/2019	T/CI	£15.00	Organisation	Guest speaker representing Northumbria Police during an event.	Flowers	Accepted	The flowers were presented to the officer and two other speakers at the end of the event. It would have been impolite to decline in front of a large audience and would seem a disproportionate response.
Command	01/04/2019	ACC	Unknown	Organisation	Received a book - Intelligent Policing	Book	Accepted	To refuse would have been impolite.
Command	14/03/2019	CC	Unknown	International Digital Investigation & Intelligence Awards	Drinks reception for presenting awards	Drinks reception	Accepted	Presenting awards
Safeguarding	05/04/2019	DC	£4.00	Public	The victims of a case gave the officer a box of chocolates and a card to say thank you for all the support.	Box of chocolates	Accepted	It was an unsolicited, inexpensive item given in genuine thanks. To refuse would have been impolite.